

Triple Crown Has Easy Time Winning $1,000

G.A. Cochran's Brown Filly Breezes Home in Feature Race at Belmont.

SLENDER CROWD SEES HORSES DO BATTLE

Sam McMeekin Retained by Mr. Belmont After Final Bid of $1,200.

By E. D. BURROWS.

Racing at Belmont Park lapsed into monotony yesterday afternoon. The six-race card provided by the Westchester Racing Association was the quintessence of mediocrity and the slender crowd, compared with the brilliant and tremendous gathering of yesterday, was drab and colorless.

The few who did journey down to see the cheerless performance spent very little except the afternoon. Even Lane's hand could not inject much life into the situation, nor dispel the idea that the day's entertainment was an afterthought.

Three public choices out of six came in first place; but two of them were such odds-on favorites that only a heavy shareholder in Bethlehem Steel or Du Pont Powder dared to flirt with them.

Two-Horse Scamper.

Especially was this true in what was supposed to be the feature race, the Bouquet Selling Stake—which degenerated into a two-horse scamper (it could hardly be called a race) between Triple Crown and Old Drury, the former breezing home as he pleased, to win the $1,000 prize offered by the racing association, and who wished to wager on Triple Crown you might have been accommodated at the prohibitive odds of one to seven, or worse.

The first race of the afternoon was almost as bad. James Butler's ebony two-year-old, Ivory Black, being considered such a sure winner that the best the layers could offer was one to four, and very little of that. As it turned out, the Butler colt was just as good as he was figured to be, romping home in the easiest sort of a victory over Pacing Fanny, Thoughtful and Leading Lady, which finished in the order named, the nearest being ten furlongs behind the winner.

The real feature of the afternoon—there was such an animal running around—was the bidding for Mr. Belmont's $150,000 filly, Sam McMeekin, after the latter had won the second race by a faint-hearted neck or two from Emil Herz's filly, Ida Claire. Sam, after being placed successfully for $1,000, $500, $250 and $100 selling stakes, was run up to $1,200 by J. Kelly, who trained Dunbarfield for the race which the Belmont horse captured. Mr. Belmont and Mr. Hildreth, however, failed to feel that Sam might yet be taught how to win horse races, and retained him with the usual advance over the high bid.

Hildreth Upheld. Ida Claire, which finished second to Samuel in this race, was claimed for $500 by Mr. Hildreth for Mr. Belmont's use, and by Mr. Morris, owner of Armand, Mr. Hildreth put in the third claim, but Mr. Morris pointed out that the winner of a selling race has lost all, and was sustained.

In securing this daughter of Golden Medium—wealthy Mr. Morris being in the opinion of the wise ones, picked up a likely four-year-old at a low price, Ida Claire ran a whole of a race against McMeekin, clearly outgunning the son of Violette and Gured and losing only because she had made the pace all the way and hadn't enough foot left for the finish.

The third—the Garden City Handicap—was a pretty contest between two evenly matched thoroughbreds which was finally captured by Pullux, a most consistent son of Astronomer and Helen O'C., after an almost thrilling stretch drive, in which Royal Marston, who was the favorite, was the son of the day—Libyan Sands and True as Steel also participated.

True as Steel was off in front and seemed to have a fair way to the wire; but the Randolph entry was not prepared for the triple challenge he received at the head of the stretch and was beaten by all three of the others. Pullux, winning by a length from Royal Marston and Libyan Sands capturing the third position.

The Bouquet, as mentioned before, only brought out two horses and proved to be of the same quality for Gifford A. Cochran's brown filly Triple Crown, Old Drury, Kimball Patterson's entry for the stake, was eight lengths behind her rival at the finish.

Favorite Stumbles.

Abdon took the steeplechase after Racebrook, the favorite, had stumbled over the first barrier and lost his rider. Flying Peep and Rejoice made the going from that time on; but the former fell at the fieldstart barrier, giving Jockey Pennessy a stiff jounce, and Rejoice was not quite equal to the task of subduing the Milken State entry.

Syosset, of which much was expected, ran an indifferent sort of race and only came in the money because there were no other mounted horses to beat him.

The sixth and last race of the afternoon was the only one in which a really representative field came to the scratch. August Belmont's colt St. Rock, was installed as the favorite for the six-furlong sprint; but Foxhall P. Keene's bay, Churchill, had been carefully primed for the race and had no trouble in disposing of the field of nine other horses which opposed him.

Dorcas, a bay filly from the Cleveland stable, who with a hot tip was out, finished second to Churchill. St. Rock coming in a rather poor third.

Altogether there was little to enthuse about save the sustained excellence of the sandwiches provided by the catering Stevens for the revival of the drooping spirits of the "day late" racers.

Notes from Belmont Track.

The news that the great Banister had passed away only increased the gloom which enshrouded the stands and clubhouse yesterday. Nearly all of the 4,000 persons who witnessed the racing knew the son of Farandole by reputation, and most of them had stories to tell about him. Sic transit gloria mundi!

The victory of Churchill, in the last race, was the first for Foxhall P. Keene this year. The son of Sweep was in grand shape and had no difficulty whatever in keeping out the rest of the field and stalling off all challenges.

Monocacy, favored by many to win the second event, was pushed out of position rounding into the stretch and could not do better than finish eighth lengths behind Ida Claire, taking third money. He will do better next time out.

James Butler's promising two-year-old, Breeze, who was to have tried conclusions with Triple Crown and Old Drury for the Bouquet Stakes, bruised one of his forelegs badly during a morning workout and had to be withdrawn. Had he run he would probably have been the favorite.

Three likely-looking jumpers took one whirl around the brush course this afternoon between the fifth and sixth races. They were Kingsworthy, King Simon and Brotherstone, the latter a particularly attractive jumper recently imported from England. They will likely be heard from later in the season.

Jockey Finnessy, who was badly shaken up when flying Peep tossed him at the fieldstart barrier, was able to get into the ambulance unassisted and later declared that he was not seriously hurt. Flying Peep pursued the leaders across the finish line.

Mrs. F. J. Albright's bay gelding, Beau de Menlo, was backed down from 15 to 1 to 1 to win the last race. Just why he can't precisely understand. He finished in the ruck and never showed anything worth betting on.

The Harlem, an $500 selling stake for three-year-olds, at one mile, will feature this afternoon's programme. The Mineola and Westbury handicaps, at seven and five and a half furlongs, will also be decided.

AMATEURS HAVE INNINGS TO-DAY AT PIPING ROCK

Private Sweepstakes for a $10,000 Prize Will Be Feature of Card.

Over the course of the Piping Rock Racing Association, located at the opening of the spring meeting to-day will bring together amateurs of national prominence in the sport for a card of six races. In the past, the amateurs have been treated by members of the Long Island club, while the third event is a private sweepstakes among the owners, in which the prize for the winner will be about $10,000.

It is a handicap for two-year-olds, and the real among the nominators to capture the contest framed on the pursuit of sporting lines, quite aside from the value of the sweepstakes, former guarantee that the race will be a real test of the merits of the foreign and home bred colts and fillies engaged.

A few of the gentlemen to join in the sweepstakes are C. K. G. Billings, H. P. Whitney, W. B. Cox, Gifford A. Cochran, August Belmont, Mortimer L. Schiff and R. T. Wilson, Jr.

Amateurs will be prominent in the saddle, and the army will be represented by some of its crack riders, "cross-country" and on the flat. The first race will be at 2:30 o'clock, and is a high-weight handicap at one mile and a furlong, for hacks or hunters registered in this country or Canada, and horses the property of the United States government or of officers in the army. The trophy is the gift of Edward F. Whitney, and the joint donors of the $500 purse are Thomas Hitchcock and the association.

The list of box holders comprises many leaders in outdoor sports of social prominence, and is almost a register of the owners of private estates throughout Long Island, notably along the Sound Shore and in the neighborhood of the Piping Rock Country Club. The race committee is formed of three leaders in long island foxhunting—Henry B. Joseph, E. Davis and Thomas Hitchcock.
